Richmond, Virginia – May 14, 2009 — Guild Launch, a premier provider of services to online gamers, including Guild Site Hosting and Ventrilo Server hosting, announced today the launch of a brand new forum signature generator site, Sig Launch <http://www.siglaunch.com>. Sig Launch adds new features, new stats such as achievement points, and has a new update method that will let the service grow much further than Guild Launch's previous signature generator.

"Forum signatures are a natural extension of our Guild Hosting offering. They are fun, informative and people really like them." says Stephen Johnston, President of Guild Launch.

Sig Launch's signature creation tool allows you to create your own personalized forum signature quickly and easily. World of Warcraft signatures will automatically update to show your latest chosen stats. Users can choose from an assortment of different backgrounds or solid colors to personalize their sig. Users can also link a custom character avatar to their new sig or use a default avatar. When you're done building your new sig HTML, BBCode and a Guild Launch Forum Signature code will be provided.
